Incorrect. The angle in standard position has its initial side on the x-axis and moves counter-clockwise to the terminal side, shown in the second quadrant. It measures $40°$ less than a straight angle.