You may have correctly determined that the reference angle is $30°$ and then confused secant with cosecant. To find the correct value of $\sec 330°$ you must find the value of $\sec 30°$ and then determine the correct sign. To determine the sign, use the signs of x and y in the fourth quadrant, remembering that: $\sec \theta = \dfrac{1}{x}$