The table below contains measurements for three different circles. When completed:

- The first column will have the length of an arc cut off by a central angle.
- The second column will have the radius of the circle.
- The third column will have that central angle measured in radians.

Note the units given in the headings and fill in all of the missing numbers (without units).