

When you draw an angle in standard position and it intersects the unit circle at the point  $(x, y)$ , the  $x$ -coordinate gives you the value of the cosine function at that angle, and the  $y$ -coordinate gives you the value of the sine function at that angle.