

When you draw the angle π radians in standard position, it intersects the unit circle at the point $(-1, 0)$. What information does this point give you?