

When you draw an angle in standard position and it intersects the unit circle at the point (x, y) , the x -coordinate gives you the value of the cosine function at that angle, and the y -coordinate gives you the value of the sine function at that angle.