

You may have understood that there is an alternating pattern of hills and valleys repeating over every interval of length 2π , but this answer does not match up with the interval given in the question.