

There is an alternating pattern of hills and valleys that repeats over every interval of length  $2\pi$ , forever in both directions. You will not have two valleys in a row at any part of the graph of the sine function.