

These two points are on the graph of $y = \sin \theta$. The graph of cosine has a hill and valley pattern like sine, but the hills and valleys are not located in the same places, so they do not have the same points.