The second point is on the graph of cosine, but the first point is not. The graph of cosine has a repeating hill and valley pattern. The pattern repeats after intervals of length 2π in both directions. In particular:

$$\cos 3\pi = \cos \pi = -1$$

So the point $(3\pi, -1)$ is on the graph of cosine.