

This is a value of x for which $\sin 3x = 0$, but it is not the smallest positive value for which this is true. Look at one cycle of the graph of $y = \sin 3x$ just to the right of the y -axis. The function equals 0 when the graph crosses the x -axis. Find the first point to the right of the y -axis where this happens.