

The amplitude is correct, but the period is not. You may have thought that the 3 in front of the x would make the period 3 times as long, but it does just the opposite. The amplitude of $y = a \sin bx$ is given by $|a|$, and the period equals $\frac{2\pi}{|b|}$.