

This graph does have the shape of a sine function. However, in determining the graph, it appears that you switched the values of a and b . The correct answer is the graph showing one cycle on the interval $[0, 4\pi]$ that passes through the origin.