

They are congruent because corresponding sides are proportional.