

They are similar because they are both isosceles triangles.