

Incorrect. Add the two equations together to eliminate the variable y . Solve the resulting equation for x , and substitute the value into either equation to find the value of y .