

Incorrect. Multiply the bottom equation by 2, and then subtract the new equation from the top equation. This eliminates the x variable. Solve for y , and then use substitution to solve for x .