Use the formula $d = rt$ to represent both legs of the journey. Her outgoing trip can be represented by $d = r \cdot 1.5$, and her incoming trip can be represented by $\square$, since her rate was 2 mph faster on the return trip.