

If he divides Equation A by 2, he gets $x - y = 5$. This may help him eliminate the x variable (if he subtracts Equation B from this new equation), but the problem states that he wants to solve for the x variable.