

Incorrect. If you're having trouble graphing, try picking a point in Region A, and plugging in its coordinates for x and y in the inequalities. If the inequalities are both true with those values, then that is the correct region. If not, move onto other regions and other points.