

Incorrect. Divide the decimal numbers, then the powers of 10, then multiply the results. Remember that when you divide two powers of 10, you need to subtract the exponents. If there's not exactly one digit (from 1 to 9) to the left of the decimal point, you'll need to convert the result.