

How many places and in which direction must the decimal point be moved for there to be only one digit (from 1 to 9) to its left? How does that affect the answer?