

How many places (and in which direction) must the decimal point be moved for there to be only one digit (from 1 to 9) to its left? How does that affect the answer?