

Walking home from school one day, Sophie stopped at the corner of the city park. She thought to herself, "Instead of walking 15 yards north to Main Street, then 20 yards east, I'll take the straight path through the park, from the southwest corner to the northeast corner." How many yards shorter is her route through the park than her route along the streets?

