Incorrect. Simplify the equation to the form $\sqrt{x+4} = $ a number, then square both sides of the equation to get $x+4 = $ a number, then solve for x. Since the radical is an even root, be sure to check that your answer satisfies the equation.