

The volume of a square pyramid is $\frac{1}{3}$ times its height times the area of the (square) base. Given that the pyramid has volume 810 cubic centimeters and height 30 centimeters, determine s , the value of each side length (in centimeters) of the base.

