Correct. You have successfully multiplied each exponent within the parentheses by the exponent outside the parentheses.