

Remember that the domain will exclude all values for which the value of the denominator is 0. It is true that  $y = 5$  should be excluded, but is there another value that should be excluded too?