

Correct. The numerator and denominator can both be factored, but there are no common factors between them, so the expression remains the same.