

A student wants to solve a rational equation by multiplying the entire equation by a common denominator. He is solving this problem:

$$\frac{1}{2(x+1)} + \frac{x+2}{3x+4} = \frac{8}{2(3x+4)}$$

After he multiplies by a common denominator, what should his equation look like?