

Incorrect. What is a common denominator for these three rational expressions? What happens when you multiply the entire equation (all three terms) by this expression?