

Incorrect. When you correctly apply the distributive property, the resulting expression will be the product of the first and second terms plus the product of the first and third terms.