

You do not put 0 in the ones place and move other digits left by one place value. You do this only if you are multiplying a number by 10. The correct answer is 5.