

The amount of money the company can make equals the amount they charge for mowing a lawn times the number of lawns each employee can mow times the number of employees.