

An auto assembly plant has three machines that install the radios in new cars. One machine installs 15 radios every two hours, another machine installs 12 each hour, and the last machine installs 9.5 per hour. If all three machines are operating at those rates, how long will it take for 500 radios to be installed?

Pick the equation below that best represents this situation, where h represents hours.