

Incorrect. Think about which condition must exist for the other one to occur. A hypothesis of $|y| \geq 0$ and $|-y| \geq 0$ does not lead to the conclusion that y is a real number; for example, the variable y could represent a person's distance from home in any direction.