

Correct. This statement is true for all values of x . Since the absolute value of any quantity has to be greater than or equal to 0, it will also be greater than -1.