

Incorrect. Think about the steps that Leo goes through as he is trying the math trick. When does he pick his number? What operations does he do to that number? What is the result? The argument that he builds should be similar to the steps he goes through to try the math trick.