

Incorrect. Try solving the system to find the values of x and y . Once you have that information, what other facts can you deduce? Which deduction does not follow from your solution?