The 5 starting players on the basketball team were trying to decide in what order they should be introduced before the game. In how many different ways can they arrange themselves for the announcer?