

2 is an x -value in the table and also a y -value in the table, so it is in both the domain and range of the function.