

Correct. This is a system of two linear equations. The slopes of the lines are the same and the  $b$  values are different, so the lines must be parallel--meaning they do not intersect.