Incorrect. Combine the two equations by adding like terms, and then solve for y. Use this value of y in one of the equations, and then solve to find the possible values for x.