

Incorrect. Instead of adding the two equations, try subtracting the second one from the first one. Which variables and terms drop out? What is left? Use the value that you find for x to solve for y .