

Evan is making a rectangular flag in art class. He has created the main part of the flag, which measures 20 inches wide by 12 inches tall. He has exactly 228 square inches of material to create the flag's border, and he wants to use all of it.

If x represents the width of the border, which equation represents the total area of the border?