

Incorrect. Compute the probability of Alan and Brad being selected as separate events. Then multiply their probabilities to find the probability that both events occur.