

You can write both fractions with a common denominator, 14. The numerators are different, so the fractions are not equivalent.