

The decimal point is in the wrong place. When you use long division, make sure that your decimal points line up.