The cost of downloading x songs in one month is $3x + 10$ dollars, which is a linear function, but not a proportional function.