

You need to move the decimal point two places to the right when converting to a percent. In this answer it was moved three places to the right. The fraction given is equivalent to this incorrect percent. The correct fraction would be $\frac{725}{1000}$, which you must simplify.